WELLINGTON MANAGEMENT®
IN 2017, THE WORLD CHANGED. IN NOVEMBER, THE WOMEN’S ALTERNATIVE INVESTMENT SUMMIT CONSIDERS THE OUTCOME. The world experienced seismic geopolitical changes in 2017. First came Brexit, followed by the stunning Trump upset, and significant elections in France, Germany and China. Learn about the impact these game-changing events might have on investment strategies, portfolio company operations and international financial markets.

You will also hear from key managers on how today’s high-valuation environment is shaping their search for deals and liquidity. And, leading institutional investors will discuss the significant pressure to generate returns, which will lead to closer scrutiny of funds and new investment strategies in the year ahead.

More than 400 of the industry’s most-influential women — LPs, GPs and advisors — will come to the 2017 Women’s Alternative Investment Summit to engage in candid conversations about these provocative topics, build business relationships and friendships, and do deals with senior-level peers from across the private equity and alternative investment community. The productivity and energy that surround the Summit is unlike any other industry event, which is why it remains the must-attend event year after year.

WHO WILL BE THERE?

Summit attendees are seasoned professionals — leading allocators and women who founded their own firms or are long-time dealmakers. Not generally part of the conference circuit, these accomplished GPs and LPs find the Summit an ideal venue for catching up with trusted colleagues, building new connections and sharing hard-to-get information.

• Institutional investors
• LP advisors
• Fund-of-funds managers
• Buyout specialists
• Growth equity managers
• Venture capitalists
• Hedge fund managers
• Real estate fund managers
• Real asset managers
• Infrastructure investors
• Distressed debt specialists
• and senior leaders from across the private equity and alternative investment world.

Please note: The Women’s Alternative Investment Summit is closed to the media.

Facing the Challenges of an Uncertain World: The Strategies and Sectors That Make Sense in ’18
Being a chief investment officer has long been a challenging task. Often facing sizable unfunded retirement liabilities, they must find a way to generate sizable returns year after year. The past year has been a good one as investors have pushed stocks to new highs. But events in Europe, China, North Korea and, of course, the United States have left many unsure as to what to do in 2018. Our panel of CIOs gives their view on what they are seeing and expecting in terms of returns. They’ll also discuss specific investment segments and how they are looking to use them, including, most notably, private equity, venture capital, real estate, hedge funds, infrastructure and other natural resources.

9:15 - 10:00 AM  KEYNOTE PANEL DISCUSSION
Putting Capital to Work in 2018: The Challenges and Opportunities Facing Investors
Institutional investors have pumped significant amounts of capital into private equity, venture capital, hedge funds, real estate, infrastructure and other alternative investments. High valuations, however, have slowed new investments or forced firms to focus on new strategies or exits. Our panelists will outline the deals their firms have been doing, and what they are or aren’t likely to do in the year ahead.
